1. I am a partner in DLA Piper US LLC, in its Washington, DC office. I am lead counsel for Defendants in this case.

2. Until approximately one week ago, my staff had been reviewing the voluminous filings that were made under seal to make preliminary determinations, for my review, of which documents that were filed under seal they believed should or might properly be kept in that status.

3. The DC office of the firm is moving on September 28. In preparation for the move, packers have boxed various files.

4. I learned on September 12 that all files in the referenced case that were in our "case room," including our copies of the documents at issue in connection with the Order [Re: Sealed Documents] at Docket 336, had been packed for storage and shipment pursuant to the firm's moving schedule.

5. Although it is not impossible to retrieve these documents for review, doing so will create significant logistical problems.

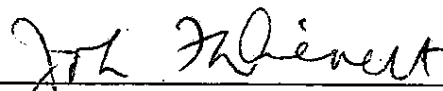

6. If granted an extension, Defendants should be able to review the documents and file any motion with respect to them that Defendants believe is warranted within two weeks of the move, by October 12.

7. The parties have agreed on mediation in this action, which is scheduled for November 14. Their report on that, and other subjects, is due September 20.
